Cologne/Germany, 6 May 2025 | In exactly four weeks, ANGA COM, the leading conference and exhibition for broadband, media & connectivity, will open its doors in Cologne (3 to 5 June 2025). A visitor ticket costs only 25.- Euros and is valid for all three days. It not only includes access to the two exhibition halls with 500 international exhibitors from the broadband, fiber optics and media distribution, but also the international keynotes and panels on the Innovation Stage. In addition, there will be numerous networking events by exhibitors, the popular open-air plaza with food trucks and the new ANGA COM Business Center for concentrated work on-site.

- A few days ago, ANGA COM passed the threshold of 500 exhibitors. They come from 40 countries and have booked more space on over 25,000 square meters than in the previous year. The exhibitor list and the interactive floor plan are already available online.
- The international programme on the Innovation Stage in hall 7 has been expanded once again compared to last year and is free to all exhibition visitors. 60 industry experts will be speaking here, around 40 of them in English. The future topics of connectivity, media distribution and AI will be addressed in particular. A special highlight this year is the “International CEO Panel” in cooperation with Egon Zehnder and the participation of Adel Al-Saleh (CEO, SES), Alex Goldblum (CEO, Eurofiber) and Christian Hillbrant (CEO, Vantage Towers). The Innovation Stage programme can be viewed here.
- Optimization of visitor parking: A particularly important element of ANGA COM's further improved logistics concept for visitor comfort is the optimization of the parking situation. Compared to last year, the number of parking spaces will not only be increased, but above all entry and exit will be massively accelerated by a completely new access system with digital license plate recognition. This is a special response to the wishes of many visitors and the steady increase in visitor numbers.
- Numerous side events organized by exhibitors such as stand parties, product presentations or workshops take place during ANGA COM, inviting visitors to network, exchange ideas and celebrate. A constantly growing overview of events can be found here.
- The popular open-air plaza with 8 food trucks between the two exhibition halls once again offers a particularly attractive environment for breaks and networking this year. The offer has been optimized once again. There will be a new truck with Mexican food and a particularly varied vegetarian offering.
- With the premiere of the ANGA COM Business Center in hall 7, the working and meeting capacities will once again be expanded significantly and to a high standard. The Business Center offers additional space for meetings and concentrated work.
- Free exhibition and conference day: On Thursday, 5 June 2025, attendance at ANGA COM, including the entire conference programme in the Congress Center North, is completely free of charge. The main topics on this day include the important area of in-house networks. The Federal Gigabit Bureau will be holding a particularly practical panel on the topic of municipalities on this day.

The regular conference programme of ANGA COM 2025 offers – with a ticket for only 270.- Euros – over 60 panels with more than 240 speakers. About half of all speaker slots will be held in English. Highlights of the strategy programme include the keynote speech by Hendrik Wüst (Premier of the State of North Rhine-Westphalia), the Gigabit Summit “What needs to change in Germany after the election?”, an exclusive interview with Dr. Katrin Vernau (new Director General of WDR), the Media Summit “Content, Streaming, Transformation” and the Fiber Summit. The programme section “Technology & Practice” addresses fiber optics, in-house networks, open access, resilience, HFC networks, quality of service, civil engineering, connectivity, streaming, video discovery, ad insertion, CDN, IP video, monitoring, monetization, data protection, artificial intelligence and sustainability. The up-to-date status of the programme is available online: programm section “Strategy”, programme section “Technology & Practice” and speaker list.
